Extract from the Paris Alamain.

Paris, Dec. 28. 'The King, who has been much in'diſpoſed of a Cold, is now better.

'His Majeſty on the 25th recived a Courier from M. 'Belliſle, but the Contents of his Diſpatches remain a 'profound Secret; all that we know is, that the Troops 'in Prague want nothing, and that they live in perfect 'Harmony with the Townſmen, ſo that the Report we 'had of an Epidemick Diſtemper prevailing there is 'groundleſs, as is alſo another Report, that Marſhal Belle'iſle had quitted that Place and was retired towards 'Egra.

We ventured to predict this in Yeſterday's Paper.—There is indeed no great Difficulty in diſcovering the Falſhood of French Reports; the Hardſhip lies, in finding out, when, if ever, they are true. As to the Harmony in which their Soldiers live with the Citizens of Prague, it muſt be underſtood only of the Bavarian Faction, which however is far from being numerous, or rich.

'Another Courier is arriv'd with Advice, that the Au'ſtrians had been oblig'd to raiſe the Siege of Braunau, af'ter having made ſeveral Aſſaults, in which they could 'not but loſe a great many Men. M. Broglio was very 'deſirous of making uſe of this favourable Opportunity, 'in order to rout them entirely; with which View he 'attack'd them in the Rear, but the Seaſon and the Roads 'were ſo bad, that he found himſelf obliged to let them 'go, and to content himſelf with firing a few Cannon'ſhot upon one of their Convoys, which killed them a 'ſmall Number of Men and ſome Horſes. Marſhal Bro'glio has already canton'd the greateſt Part of his Troops 'between the Inn and the Iſer.

We may be certain from this Account of the Matter, that the French made a lame Purſuit, and the Auſtrians a good Retreat. It was certainly a great Misfortune to ſo polite a Gentleman as Marſhal Broglio to be ſent into a Country where the Roads and the Weather are as rough as the People; and, from his Manner of Behaviour, one would be apt to conclude, he intends to be plagu'd with their Rudeneſs as little as poſſible.

'By another Courier we have an Account of an Ad'vantage gain'd by the Spaniards over the Piedmonteſe, 'who have loſt a conſiderable Number of Men in the 'Action. We expect the Particulars of this Affair by a 'ſecond Courier.

Provided always, that Courier be in the ſame Story with the firſt, which is more than I will anſwer for.

'The Queen is perfectly recovered from a ſlight Indiſ'poſition; and ſo is the Dauphin from his Cold, info'much that on the 25th he ſupp'd with his Majeſty.

'The Cardinal de Fleury, who continues ſtill at Iſſy, 'enjoys perfect Health, and is expected at Verſailles the 'Day after Twelfth-tide.'

"Our Annals have hitherto contained little more than the Hiſtories of Kings and their Miniſters, the Hiſtory of the Parliament, which is the Hiſtory of the Engliſh People, having been neglected. To ſupply that Defect, therefore, as far as the Waſte of Time will give leave, is one of the moſt effectual Services, that, in the way of Record, can be done to the Publick, and as ſuch no Doubt will be read in After-ages, when from theſe Collections they ſhall derive the double Advantages of Precedents and Warnings."

"For this Reaſon, if the Tranſactions of the Commons had not been already ſet forth with all the Care, Fidelity, and Exactneſs that ſo great a Work would admit of, in Mr Chandler's Hiſtory, Proceedings, and Debates of that Houſe, this Undertaking would have been compos'd jointly of the Proceedings of both Houſes, but as they have render'd one Half of our original Deſign unneceſſary, thoſe of the Lords became our only Province, which we have endeavour'd to make good by all the Reſearches in the Power of private Men to make."

"And that no Advantage might be wanting, we have connected this Account of ours with Mr Chandler's Hiſtory of the Commons, illuſtrated it with many uſeful Explanatory Notes, and interwove it till within the Reach of our own Memories with an Abſtract of the moſt material Occurrences of the Times, by Way of Link between Seſſion and Seſſion."

Dr. BATEMAN's Original and Only True Warehouſe and Retale Warehouſe at the Printing-Office, on the South Door of Bow-Church, the Lower End of the Church-Yard, from Cheapſide, London.

THE Daily Succeſs which has conſtantly attended the Taking Dr. Bateman's Pectoral Drops, in the ſeveral Diſtempers of Colds, Pains in the Breaſt, Limbs, and Joints; has given it ſo univerſal a Character, that few Families can be without them in their Houſes. —— Beſides the Diſtempers already mentioned, there is no one Medicine, ſince the Beginning of the Art of Phyſick, that will give a Speedier Relief in all Rheumatick Pains, Gout, Stone, Gravel, Chick, &c. Innumerable Inſtances might be given of the Truth thereof, but we chooſe to refer to a Book, call'd, A Treatiſe of the Virtues of Dr. BATEMAN's Pectoral Drops, given Gratis, at the Warehouſe aforeſaid, to Shop-keepers, &c. in any City, Town, or Village, where theſe Drops are not already Sold, may be ſupplied, with Allowance to ſell again, by Directing or Sending to the Teſter,

☞ The Surprizing Encouragement, which by the Succeſs, theſe moſt Valuable Drops have, for upwards of Thirty Years, met with, not only in Great Britain and Ireland, but in all Parts of the Weſt-Indies, and other foreign Countries, has lately induced ſeveral mean and mercenary Perſons to Counterfeit them; and by imitating our Seal, Bill of Directions, and Show-Boards, with our Method of Advertiſing as near as they can or dare to do, without making them the ſame, thereby impoſe their dangerous Compoſitions upon the unwary and credulous Shop-keepers both in Town and Country, inſtead of the True and Genuine Sort.

The Patentee and Company therefore, in Gratitude for the univerſal good Reception they have ſo long met with, and for the Safety of thoſe who for the future may be willing to purchaſe the ſame, think themſelves abſolutely obliged, to give this neceſſary Caution;

Which they earneſtly requeſt may be obſerved.
